Trolley Line Going Out of Business

Before snow flies the electric road linking the villages of Norway and South Paris will be only a pleasant memory. If the plans are carried out as formulated by the corporation, owning the Norway & Paris Street Ry., the line which has been in operation about twenty-three years will become scrapped and sold for junk.

The initial cost was about $13,000, but in several transfers and manipulations not exactly clear, the paper value has soared to a little over $44,000.

At the meeting of representative business men held in the Norway Municipal Court-room, Wednesday afternoon, the affairs pertaining to local conditions were aired thoroughly and the matter discussed without prejudice. The remarks were based on the result of an investigation of the committee which included L. M. Carroll, Albert J. Stearns, Esq., and Henry B. Foster. They took the matter up with officials representing the Oxford Electrical Co., who are part and parcel of the trolley line. In their investigation it was learned that the road had been a losing proposition during some years. It is claimed a net loss of $2000 per year will represent the figures, owing to a big shrinkage in fares and increased cost for maintenance.

Another self evident fact is an all round depreciation of the property. It is estimated between three and five thousand dollars would be necessary to put the line on its feet, which is more than the company are willing to shoulder considering the outlook.

L. M. Carroll, who was moderator, stated that personally he disliked to see the road go out of business and offered $800 per year if they would remain. Walter L. Gray Esq., of South Paris offered $100.

It was stated an increase in fares would not commence to off set the annual deficit, as undoubtedly the small fare would continue to grow smaller if the Public Utilities Commission granted a request. There is no other way but to close out.

A unanimous vote was to the effect that no organized action should be taken to restrain the company from giving up the line. They agreed to let the matter rest temporarily regarding the corporations disposition of the $44,000 stock in the defunct line. The citizens by no means intend to help swing an added burden placed upon the Oxford Electrical Co., which will cause light or power rates to soar in consequence of this change.

The transportation problem was discussed at length and a bus service was favored. One application has been received from a person willing to properly fit up and equip a bus to meet the public demands. The same committee were empowered to take up the matter with the South Paris representatives and formulate articles for a Village Corporation meeting to be called if need be.

Above all the street railway company wish to play fair and will continue the trolley cars for a reasonable time after County Cattle Show, allowing the villages opportunity for an adjustment of transportation.

In the boat race the contestants included Ronell Bicknell of Norway with W. Lopenam, Trot, Crawford, as contestants. Mr. Trot won the second a pound box of chocolate.

The first prize, a box of cigars and Bicknell, Norway and Desoret as battery. Norway and Bridgton were the contestants in the baseball game, and Norway won in a score of 11 to 6. The line up for Norway included, Woodworth, Desoret, Luck, Cutler, Wight, Ripley, Bicknell, Blackquere and Hussey, with Henry B. Foster. They took the matter up with officials representing the Oxford Electrical Co., who are part and parcel of the trolley line. In their investigation it was learned that the road had been a losing proposition during some years. Bright's disease and cancer was the cause of his death.

Mr. Whalen was born in Steuben, Norway, Vt., on Sept. 27, 1853, to Samuel L. Whalen, a native of Ireland, and Mary (Oakes) Whalen of Cherryfield. For many years he was a lumberman in the West, residing in Bueda, Washington, fifteen years. Later he returned East and learned cobbling and shoemaking, carrying on the trade until sickness caused him to give up his business.

Concert For Red Cross

An unusual opportunity for music lovers will be the concert at the Opera House Friday evening, September 6, given by Charles Harrison and Bonah Gaylor Young, assisted by Marion Haskell and Ruth Cummings. All proceeds from the recital will go to Southern Oxford County Chapter, A. R. C.

Mr. Harrison is well known to millions of people through his Victor and Columbia records as well as his concert work. He is a native of New Jersey and has exemplified his Americanism by always insisting the American singer of musician can obtain the best education in this country. He has amply proven this contention in his own case. As a pupil of Frederick Bristol, he served as soloist for four years at the Fifth Avenue Brick Presbyterian Church, resigning in 1916 to devote himself entirely to concert and phonograph work. On America's entrance in the war he promptly offered his time and talent and has sung his way into the hearts of hundreds of thousands of American lads in khaki from Texas to the lakes. His appearance in the many cantonments was at the request of and under the direction of the War Department Camp Activities Commission. He has been asked to go to France if the Commission deems it advisable, and has consented. He has been spending his vacation at his summer camp on Long Lake, Harrison, and has shown that his idea of resting is to give further of his talent in the form of recitals for the Red Cross in various cities and towns, and also in the organizing of "Community Chorus" in Harrison and Bridgton. Although the recipient of an offer of a place in the Metropolitan Opera cast, and of many offers for work in Light Opera and musical comedies, he has chosen to remain on the Concert stage.

Mrs. Young is a well known recital artist. She also, is a pupil of Mr. Bristol's. She has appeared at many cantonments in the south and west and has sung generously for Red Cross Benefits. During the summer she has assisted Mr. Harrison in his Community Chorus work. Last winter she conducted many Community "sings" in different parts of the country. One of the pleasing features of the Community Chorus Program at Harrison on Labor Day was her presentation of a beautiful flag to the Boy Scouts of that town.

The program arranged by Mr. Harrison and Mrs. Young for Friday night is most generous and contains a wide range of excellence. Each will appear several suites of numbers and, at least, in two duets. Miss Cummings and Miss Haskell are too well known locally for their musical talents to need any introduction to a Norway audience. Both have studied several years in Boston. Miss Cummings at the Faelton School for the Piano, and Miss Haskell as a violinist under the teaching of Professor Daniel Kuntz. Seats may be checked at any time at Stone's.

The Lost Necklace, the operetta which was repeated at the Opera House Thursday evening drew a good sized house. On account of the rain, many from the neighboring towns who were planning to attend were detained. A large delegation from South Paris and Paris Hill were present notwithstanding the wet weather. The Operetta passed off equally as well as the first performance, and the $70 was secured for the Red Cross. The young ladies who arranged the entertainment were very grateful for the hearty support they received from the public. A dance followed the operetta music being furnished by Howard Shaw piano and George Soper drums.

Dorothy E. Chandler visited her grandparents at Bethel from Saturday until Tuesday morning.

A large number attended the spot light dance at Norway Opera House Tuesday evening: Music was furnished by Grace Dean, violin; Roy Edwards, cornet; Harold Anderson, piano; and George Soper, drums. In the last dance before intermission Clara Lovejoy of Welchville and Mary Irving of Oxford won the box of chocolates in the lucky draw, being the last couple on the floor from the drawing. Girls from a secure source during the Fair and will hold a cattle show dance each evening. Music by the four piece orchestra. A spot light will be used frequently.

The first meeting of Oxford Chapter O. E. S. No. 168 will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 10, since the summer vacation. Plans for the fall and winter work will be talked over.

Herman A. Lewis, who has been enjoying a two weeks' vacation at his home in Albany, returned Tuesday and commenced work at Z. L. Merchant's store. Large potatoes are being featured in Stone's window this week. Eleven in a row weigh 10 pounds, 6 ounces, the largest is 22 ounces. These were raised by F. P. Stone on Pike Hill. A single spud placed in the same exhibit and raised by A. J. Richardson weighs 23 ounces.

The Republican Patriotic mass meeting will be held this evening, Thursday, at Norway Opera House. Hon. Bert M. Fernald, U. S. Senator, will be the speaker. Mechanic Falls band will furnish music.

Shirley McKay passed the week-end in town with relatives before his departure for Camp Devens, Tuesday with the contingent of draftees from Lewiston.

Della Noyes entertained at a dinner party Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Whitney and Theresa McSwiney of Boston, Mrs. M. M. Fuller, Elsie A. Farrow, Ruth Cummings, and Gertrude Gardiner. After a fine dinner Miss Cummings rendered a fine program at the piano which was greatly enjoyed. John Hazleton of Portland was in town Saturday calling on old time friends. John brought several dance records made under his supervision in New York last May by the Columbia Graphophone Co. These records were Plain and Lancers Quadrilles and two contras, and are old time dances which have made John famous as a prompter. The music for these records was furnished by an orchestra of twenty picked musicians, several of whom have toured the United States and Europe with Sousa's band. Many assembled in Freeland Howe's music shop where the selections were played during the day.

Russell H. Betts who is in training at the Westworth Institute, Boston spent Saturday and Sunday with his mother, Mrs. James Wright.

Answer the Alarm!

Norway People Should Not Delay

If your kidneys are inflamed,
Don't stand around and do nothing.
Like a fire it will soon be beyond control.

You will get the alarm in time—
Backache, or dizziness or disorders of the urine.

Heed the warning.
Give your kidneys a rest by living more carefully.

Use Doan's Kidney Pills to help stamp out the cause.

Profit by Norway woman's experience.
Mrs. Mary Gammon, 14 Beal St., says:
"I have kept Doan's Kidney Pills on hand for years, in fact, ever since I first took them nearly ten years ago. The symptoms I noticed at that time indicated kidney complaint. There was a dull, heavy ache across the small of back and often attacks of dizziness came over me.
Doan's Kidney Pills, which I got from Frank Kimball's Drug Store, proved fine in relieving me of these troubles. I take Doan's off and on now and couldn't wish for anything better to keep my kidneys in good condition.

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Gammon had.

well for the winning of the war. Surely, it must encourage "the boys" to hear of the many ways by which the people at home are standing behind them. Let us

Soldiers' Letters

The following letter was written July 27, to Ethel Lapham of Norway Lake by her brother Ronald B. Lapham, who is in the 103 Infantry, 26th Division Headquarters Co. Signal Platoon, American.

My dear Sister: I was much pleased to get your letter of June 25. I realize it has been some time since I wrote you last but I really have had a good excuse for it.

Well, I suppose you have heard by this time of the fine work done by my division, and especially of my regiment.

Well dear, I have been over the top. Have been over three times and was waiting to go over the fourth time. Ethel, you can just believe that your brother has got a whole chain of medals and a whole lot of other things. Not all of the boys went over three times as I did. Of course the papers have told you that we get hard hit, and I have little to say on that subject.

I went over the top in the first wave with one officer and a handful of men who do my kind of work. I had on a small pack, my rifle, bayonet and some equipment which we use in our particular kind of work. My friends fell all around me from Machine Gun, and Artillery fire etc., but I got through without a scratch. Then a message had to be carried back to the lines, and so I volunteered to carry it. By half crawling through wheat fields, grass, over hills and through bushes, I reached the lines and delivered my message O. K. Then I went in the second wave and got through all right. How the boys fought. We got the Boche on the run and they are going yet. Next day we went over again, but the Boche had taken to their heels. I do not dare say too much for the Censor would not let it pass. Of course we had some hardships, rainy weather etc. It pulled me down some. I do not believe I weigh more than one hundred twenty-five pounds now and I weighed one hundred forty-five just a short time ago. The boys have no color left in our faces, so you see, these big battles take nearly a year's life out of us. We went five days and four nights with only about an hour's sleep in all. We are having a couple of days rest now.

Most water here is not good to drink, as the Germans have a poisoning squad for poisoning water. We took chances, and it made some sick.

Well this is the second big battle and (Censored). We have captured miles of territory and the French are proud of us. If this keeps up long, I do not believe the Boche can stand it. We have taken all kinds of prisoners. I have lost everything I own except what I could force into my pockets. I thank you a thousand times for your picture. It went with me into the battle.

Please let aunt Fan know I am all right. I have not written her since July 3.

When you go to Dr. Jones' again, please tell him he did fine work on my teeth. I can eat hardtack with the fillings and not hurt them. Well, Edd, Company C is being paid off now. I have not signed a pay roll since last April. Guess I am out of luck.

I thanked you for the dictionary and pipe in my last letter. That pipe and I are great friends. (Censored). A German bombing plane came over a town where there was a hospital and a German prison camp in the same town. The pilot of this machine had written orders to drop 25 bombs on the hospital. Well, over he comes about 11:30 a.m. and dropped his bombs O. K., but instead of dropping them on the hospital, he hit the prison camp and killed 96 German prisoners and wounded 74 more. Only 2 of the French guards were slightly wounded.

Here is something else I know to be true. The Boche infantry came over on us 800 strong one morning just at daybreak. We had only 2 platoons in our front lines (about 140 men) and 6 machine guns. They got as far as our barbed wires, then we opened up on them at close range with rifles, pistols and hand grenades. In 18 minutes we drove them back past their first line trenches, capturing 370 of them and killed over 300 and on entering their second line, we found about 20 of them with their legs chained to trees and a machine gun beside them so they couldn't retreat and prisoners told us that they were forced over toward our lines at the point of the bayonet by their officers who afterward retreated to safety, which goes to prove beyond a doubt that the "mighty German war machine" believed by us all a year ago to be invincible, is the greatest bluff of this century and any time when I don't feel equal to four Germans in a hand to hand fight (when I'm in the lines), I'll quit cold.

Our officers tell us every American soldier is good for six of them and the U. S. Marines proved they just couldn't be trimmed by any number of them. They persist in attacking in mass formation and are moved down by hundreds upon hundreds in a very few seconds, an attack rarely lasts over half an hour before they begin to melt. They are making a supreme effort now to break through the allied resistance, but so far, it holds like a steel wall and in the meantime it is closing in around them like a pair of pliers.

Well, Edd, how's everything now days around the Maine Mfg. Co.? Do you suppose there'll be a job there for me when I get back? I used to give good service, apparently. Nothing would please me better than to get a job in your room, for I'm coming back before long. I feel sure this war is about over.

Give my regards to the boys at the shop. How's Peckie and Bert Cordwell and "Uncle" Doton. Tell Ray Frost I wish I had those P-nuts right now, and ask him if he remembers about how we used to rig up the old sewing machine with spools and strings and make a "factory" out of it that was all of 25 years ago.

Well, Edd, I will quit for this time. Give my regards and love to all at home and will write again to all very soon. Sincerely, brother Elmer.

Letters from George E. Frost, who is in Co. B 103 Infantry, France, to his sister, Mrs. E. A. Frost of Norway.

France, July 26, 1918.

Dear Sister: Will write you a few lines this morning as I haven't anything else to do. Am still in the hospital; don't know how much longer I shall be there. Do seem to get very rapidly. That gas sure does its work thoroughly, but am quite sure I shall be out again before very long, so don't worry, as I am getting the best of care.

We are in one of the prettiest places in France. It is a famous summer resort, and the grandest parks to walk about in. We are allowed from 2 till 5 p.m. and from 6 till 9 in the evening to go about any place within the city limits that we care to. We have had lovely weather lately. Just right, not too hot nor too cold. It looked a bit like rain this morning, though. I haven't heard a word from the company since I came here. But I imagine it's impossible for any of them to write now as they're in the "Big Push" and are fairly busy I guess.

I must tell you of my trip from the front lines to this place. I was feeling badly and went to the doctor and after looking me over, put a tag on me and ordered me sent to the hospital. He ordered me to get together my equipment and to report to the first aid dressing station at 8 p.m. that evening. You see no one could leave the front lines in daylight for if they did, "Fritzie" would spot them and open up on them with his artillery. So at 8 p.m. I was there, along with a few more sick and wounded. Those that were able to walk did so and those that weren't were carried on litters, about two kilometers (1.4 miles) to the nearest place they could get an ambulance.

We started out, but it was quite dark enough to hide us from the Boche observers and—well, the first thing we heard was a shell from a German "88" coming at us. Whizz-z-z-z Bang, it landed about 50 yards in the rear of us. All I ducked, (naturally), then three came all in a bunch, this time about 100 yards ahead of us, which goes to show what a poor judge Fritz is.

Well, we got to the little hollow where the ambulances were. We were hustled into them and say—I never want to cover the ground in an ambulance again as fast as we did that night. The road was for about two or three kilos, in plain view of the enemy lines and they shelled it almost continually ripping great holes in it which in the dark couldn't be seen. You know no lights could be used in the cars and you can perhaps imagine what a fast ride would be over that kind of going.

Well, we were unusually lucky and arrived at our first stop, a "clearing hospital" in an old church about 6 kilos back. Here we were relieved of all our equipment, got a hot cup of cocoa, registered our names and then put aboard of another and larger ambulance. We were carried at a more moderate pace about 20 kilos to one of the large field hospitals where I stayed two days while my case was diagnosed and where everything (including the female nurses) was the latest thing in preparedness. From there we were put aboard an American Red Cross train, which for luxury and every modern comfort, exceeds every train of its kind in the world. We had every convenience imaginable, "dandy" spring beds, plenty reading material, nice food and one could hardly feel the train moving, it was so nicely adjusted. We were just 22 hours on the way.

One item of interest to me being the great Eiffel Tower at Paris, a glimpse of which I got in passing through. It was the 14th of July, the French Independence Day, in commemoration of the Fall of the Bastille, and celebration was on all over France.

The flags of all the Allies were in evidence everywhere and all along the route we were greeted and cheered by the French people who were apparently half wild with enthusiasm.

Again we were put aboard an ambulance and brought to this hospital, once, one of the best hotels in the town. Here we have everything one could wish in the shape of comforts and even many luxuries. Some change from the muddy shell-swept front lines, but those same lines are forming a steel band around Fritz, which he is unable to break through and he and his hoisted "Kultur" are every day getting to realize that "impregnable" and "invincible" are two words that apply more to an army of trench-rats than to the Germans.

Well, I guess this will do for this time. Will write again soon. Hope you are all well and comfortable. Give my regards to the old folks and write often. Love to all, Elmer.

France, July 21st, 1918.

Dear Brother and Sister:

Think it's about time I wrote you a few lines to let you get wise to the fact that the Boches haven't got me yet, but they threw a wrench into my machinery by slamming about 200 gas projectiles into my vicinity and me being rather slow at getting my mask on, I am as a result in the hospital (Base No. 1), squeaking like a new pair of boots every time I breathe. I'm getting along finely now and hope to get back at the dirty skunks again before very long.

Do you remember of us saying we couldn't believe the reported atrocities committed by these Boches? Well, Edd, if you were where I have been, it would only take you 1-1000 of an instant to realize that the worst of the deeds perpetrated by those vandals couldn't be printed for decent people to read, but here's a good one. (Censored). A German bombing plane came over a town where there was a hospital and a German prison camp in the same town. The pilot of this machine had written orders to drop 25 bombs on the hospital. Well, over he comes about 11:30 a.m. and dropped his bombs O. K., but instead of dropping them on the hospital, he hit the prison camp and killed 96 German prisoners and wounded 74 more. Only 2 of the French guards were slightly wounded.

Here is something else I know to be true. The Boche infantry came over on us 800 strong one morning just at daybreak. We had only 2 platoons in our front lines (about 140 men) and 6 machine guns. They got as far as our barbed wires, then we opened up on them at close range with rifles, pistols and hand grenades. In 18 minutes we drove them back past their first line trenches, capturing 370 of them and killed over 300 and on entering their second line, we found about 20 of them with their legs chained to trees and a machine gun beside them so they couldn't retreat and prisoners told us that they were forced over toward our lines at the point of the bayonet by their officers who afterward retreated to safety, which goes to prove beyond a doubt that the "mighty German war machine" believed by us all a year ago to be invincible, is the greatest bluff of this century and any time when I don't feel equal to four Germans in a hand to hand fight (when I'm in the lines), I'll quit cold.

Our officers tell us every American soldier is good for six of them and the U. S. Marines proved they just couldn't be trimmed by any number of them. They persist in attacking in mass formation and are moved down by hundreds upon hundreds in a very few seconds, an attack rarely lasts over half an hour before they begin to melt. They are making a supreme effort now to break through the allied resistance, but so far, it holds like a steel wall and in the meantime it is closing in around them like a pair of pliers.

Well, Edd, how's everything now days around the Maine Mfg. Co.? Do you suppose there'll be a job there for me when I get back? I used to give good service, apparently. Nothing would please me better than to get a job in your room, for I'm coming back before long. I feel sure this war is about over.

Give my regards to the boys at the shop. How's Peckie and Bert Cordwell and "Uncle" Doton. Tell Ray Frost I wish I had those P-nuts right now, and ask him if he remembers about how we used to rig up the old sewing machine with spools and strings and make a "factory" out of it that was all of 25 years ago.

Well, Edd, I will quit for this time. Give my regards and love to all at home and will write again to all very soon. Sincerely, brother Elmer.

Letters from George E. Frost, who is in Co. B 103 Infantry, France, to his sister, Mrs. E. A. Frost of Norway.

France, July 26, 1918.

Dear Sister: Will write you a few lines this morning as I haven't anything else to do. Am still in the hospital; don't know how much longer I shall be there. Do seem to get very rapidly. That gas sure does its work thoroughly, but am quite sure I shall be out again before very long, so don't worry, as I am getting the best of care.

We are in one of the prettiest places in France. It is a famous summer resort, and the grandest parks to walk about in. We are allowed from 2 till 5 p.m. and from 6 till 9 in the evening to go about any place within the city limits that we care to. We have had lovely weather lately. Just right, not too hot nor too cold. It looked a bit like rain this morning, though. I haven't heard a word from the company since I came here. But I imagine it's impossible for any of them to write now as they're in the "Big Push" and are fairly busy I guess.

I must tell you of my trip from the front lines to this place. I was feeling badly and went to the doctor and after looking me over, put a tag on me and ordered me sent to the hospital. He ordered me to get together my equipment and to report to the first aid dressing station at 8 p.m. that evening. You see no one could leave the front lines in daylight for if they did, "Fritzie" would spot them and open up on them with his artillery. So at 8 p.m. I was there, along with a few more sick and wounded. Those that were able to walk did so and those that weren't were carried on litters, about two kilometers (1.4 miles) to the nearest place they could get an ambulance.

We started out, but it was quite dark enough to hide us from the Boche observers and—well, the first thing we heard was a shell from a German "88" coming at us. Whizz-z-z-z Bang, it landed about 50 yards in the rear of us. All I ducked, (naturally), then three came all in a bunch, this time about 100 yards ahead of us, which goes to show what a poor judge Fritz is.

Well, we got to the little hollow where the ambulances were. We were hustled into them and say—I never want to cover the ground in an ambulance again as fast as we did that night. The road was for about two or three kilos, in plain view of the enemy lines and they shelled it almost continually ripping great holes in it which in the dark couldn't be seen. You know no lights could be used in the cars and you can perhaps imagine what a fast ride would be over that kind of going.

Well, we were unusually lucky and arrived at our first stop, a "clearing hospital" in an old church about 6 kilos back. Here we were relieved of all our equipment, got a hot cup of cocoa, registered our names and then put aboard of another and larger ambulance. We were carried at a more moderate pace about 20 kilos to one of the large field hospitals where I stayed two days while my case was diagnosed and where everything (including the female nurses) was the latest thing in preparedness. From there we were put aboard an American Red Cross train, which for luxury and every modern comfort, exceeds every train of its kind in the world. We had every convenience imaginable, "dandy" spring beds, plenty reading material, nice food and one could hardly feel the train moving, it was so nicely adjusted. We were just 22 hours on the way.

One item of interest to me being the great Eiffel Tower at Paris, a glimpse of which I got in passing through. It was the 14th of July, the French Independence Day, in commemoration of the Fall of the Bastille, and celebration was on all over France.

The flags of all the Allies were in evidence everywhere and all along the route we were greeted and cheered by the French people who were apparently half wild with enthusiasm.

Again we were put aboard an ambulance and brought to this hospital, once, one of the best hotels in the town. Here we have everything one could wish in the shape of comforts and even many luxuries. Red Cross Benefit
By invitation of Mrs. Don Seitz, the members and friends of the Red Cross branch passed a most pleasant evening at Summit Spring House, Harrison, the 30th. An early hour was named that the guests might enjoy the sunset from this famous vantage point. The extensive lawns, gay with autumn flowers, were lively with those who played croquet or engaged in other sports.
The evening proving chilly, one of the spacious parlors was utilized as an audience room where the following program was enjoyed:
Welcome..... Mrs. Don Seitz
Dance..... Mildred Seitz
Solo..... Mildred Seitz
Solo..... Mildred Seitz
Readings..... Mrs. Elizabeth Scribner, Mrs. William Merrill

All joined in singing The Star Spangled Banner and other patriotic songs led by Miss Seitz at the piano. The exercises were under the direction of the chairman of the local branch, Mrs. Mabel Jillson, who announced that the society had received a gift of $5 each from Charles A. Thurlow, Newburyport, Mass., and John A. Hartercross, Brooklyn, N. Y., former guest at the Summit Hotel. Mrs. Jillson in a happy manner responded to the welcome.

A guess cake provided by the genial hostess was disposed of, several times the fortunate possessors passing it over to further swell the fund. Over nineteen dollars was realized from this. A silver collection was taken, ice cream, cake and popped corn were on sale. Including the gifts of $10 the receipts of the evening exceeded $72. A most successful evening both socially and financially. The hostess and her daughter Mrs. Don Seitz and Miss Mildred Seitz, with their efficient corps of workers, left nothing undone which could add to the comfort of the many guests. At a late hour all returned to their homes declaring the affair one of the best ever and wishing all happiness to the summer dwellers of Summit Spring House.

Meeting of O. E. S.

The monthly meeting of the O. E. S. was held Tuesday evening. After the usual routine work, a brief program was given by the following:
Star Spangled Banner..... All
Reading..... Mrs. Lolla Gay
Reading..... Mrs. Elizabeth Scribner
Singing..... America

At the September meeting the work will be exemplified and there will be a covered dish supper.

The Ladies' Aid met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lena Frost. Mrs. C. G. French was a week end guest of Mrs. Fred Bolster.

N. C. Pinkham, who has visited his children, has returned to his home. J. D. Howe and wife, accompanied by friends, called on a few friends Thursday and dined at Hotel Weston.

Howard Winslow of Portland called on his cousin, Eliza Turner, Monday.

Alfred Rute and wife of Malden and Mr. and Mrs. John Willard of Everett, Mass., were week end guests of Mr. Chute's parents, A. F. Chute and wife.

Mrs. Albert Lowell and Myrtle Lowell of Roxbury, Mass., have arrived at the Lowell homestead.

An old fashioned quiet Sabbath was enjoyed here. The writer saw but two automobiles for the day and without doubt the occupants of those were on their way to attend their "grandmother's" funeral.

THE "TRIMMINGS" OF LIFE
Human activities have from time immemorial been roughly divided into two classes, commonly designated by the plain-spoken as the "essentials" and the "trimmings."

The division is an arbitrary one, and like most arbitrary definitions is frequently vague. It implies that the one is vitally necessary, while the other is superfluous. This is far from being the truth.

Many centuries ago a great Teacher declared that "Man need not live by bread alone." This truth has lost nothing of its force with the passage of time. There are many vital interests in life besides that of a mere subsistence. These interests are they which mark the dividing line between man and the brute creation.

There are the demands of his higher intelligence, and they are just as essential to the completion of the character as are the demands of subsistence to the development of the purely physical.

Man is to reward of our service we must not set aside the social demands of life. It is untrue to say we have no time for such. Time devoted to the cultivation of the social life is a period devoted to the storing of energy and resources that shall aid us in the more material tasks. An intimate knowledge of the characteristics of our fellows is a valuable knowledge. Brushing the scales of avarice and ambition from our neighbors and friends gives impetus to our own aspirations and sends us forth to the contest with renewed force and vigor.

And in fact most of the occupations of life can be successfully pursued without losing sight of those higher interests that mark the man or the woman of an upward vision. The mechanic can easily be a gentleman as a tout. Even the crossing sweeper can be a boor. Cooking and dish-washing need not bar the mind and heart from things above and beyond the humble task. It is as easy for the farmer to meditate on the great philosophies of earth as upon the virtues or failings of a neighborly candidate. In short, achievement may have for its own the higher things of life as well as the baser.

Keep the fires burning brightly on the social altars. It is for the higher development of humanity that we are now struggling, and it would surely be a perversion of our efforts did we lose sight of the golden grain while contenting ourselves with the husks of life.

Victor Emmanuel, king of Italy, is a keen fisherman and spent four or five hours with his rod, though the best of luck did not always attend his pleasurable expeditions. Once, after several hours' angling had brought him only three poor fish and he was returning to the castle, he was met by a peasant with a magnificent catch of trout. "You seem to be no great fisherman, to judge by your catch," commented the peasant; "I should say you were about as lucky as the king." "Why?" inquired his majesty. "Oh," replied the peasant, "he thinks a great deal of himself as a sportsman, but he is a poor body, much more fit to be a king than a fisherman."

Had Seen Something Like It.
Miss Atkins was explaining to her class the difference between a common noun and an abstract noun.
"An example of a common noun is 'cat,'" she said, "for you can see it, while you cannot see an abstract noun. Now, for example, have any of you ever seen 'abundance'?"

This query was received in profound silence. Then a little fellow got up and said, "No, ma'am, I have never seen a bun dance, but I've seen a cakewalk."

NORWAY AND VICINITY

HARKEN BACK ON THE PAST

Twenty-four Years Ago Last Week
Fred Keith sells newspapers on the street. He says he sells $20 to $30 worth per week. He sells the New York World, Lewiston Sun, Utica Globe, Manchester Telegram, Chicago World and Blade and some magazines.
James True says he sold about $110 worth of pickerel last winter. He has sent to market about three hundred pounds of bass this summer. He gets seven cents per pound and they are sent to Lewiston.

G. A. Richardson of Greenwood Hollow will commence to drive his meat cart probably next week.

The Advertiser Office is soon to run its presses with electric power, a three horse power motor is to be put in. There are two others who are to use electric power, one a ten horse power and the other fifteen horse power. The motors have been ordered. Mr. Wallace intends to have the new power station running in six or eight weeks.

Rev. B. S. Rideout and family stopped a couple weeks or so at Higgins Beach during his vacation and this is the story he tells of fish. "I caught twelve lobsters and we ate them all for supper." This sounds large for an ordinary fish story, but coming from the source it does we hardly dare to publicly brand it as a "story."

Twenty-Four Years Ago This Week
The town safe was moved from under the stairs outside W. C. Leavitt's store into the selectmen's room in the Norway Block, Monday. It took six horses to move it and a small army of men, though most of the men were lookers on.

At the annual alumni meeting held Wednesday evening Aug. 29, the following officers were chosen for the coming year:
President—Wm. M. Brooks.
Vice Pres.—Elise Fayer.
Sec.—Ellie Swan.
Asst. Sec.—Cora Shedd.
Ext. Sec.—Wm. Brooks, John French, Horace H. Cole, Margaret Baker, Nellie Andrews, Carrie Tucker.
Treas.—D. M. Cole.

The South Paris Savings Bank have sold the old junk on the Tannery lot to Portland parties and they have a large crew at work this week removing it.

Chico, the little dog of J. O. Crooker, has been dead. He had been gone two days and during that time Mr. and Mrs. Crooker searched for him diligently. Sunday as they were riding through West Poland they saw him in a field. Mrs. Crooker got out and called him, but he had become wild and ran from her into the woods. It was only by kindly talking to him that the dog allowed her to pick him up. He had lost half a pound of flesh a day since he left home. He weighed fourteen pounds and when he went away he weighed twenty pounds.

Presented Dangerous Weapon
Night officer, Charles D. Ruggles, of Norway, is the happy possessor of a new "riot stick," the gift from David O'Connor of Brooklyn, N. Y., formerly superintendent of a Carroll J. O'Connor Co. factory here. The instrument for a defensive work is made from highly polished oak 23 inches long, and carries a rawhide strap on the handle. It is a powerful weapon capable of great execution at long range. Thus Norway is away from Norway upon reading this fact, as the officer will carry the weapon on his mid-night rounds and plans to make it speak loud enough to be heard in Brooklyn if occasion requires.

F. Robert Seavey in a few well chosen words made the presentation seconded by Tony Young.

Mrs. Roy Frost returned Friday afternoon from a short visit at Portland. She attended a farewell party given by the family and many friends to Edgar Worthen at the home of his sister, Mrs. F. E. McIntire, in Portland. As he went to Camp Devens with the Cumberland County quota, a comfort kit, fully equipped, and money was presented as a parting gift. A pleasing feature in the evening's entertainment was music furnished by players from the Clifford E. Leighton Mandolin Club, his brother Harry being a member. Mr. Worthen is well known in this vicinity, having been employed at the Paris Manufacturing Co. His brother, Sergt. Albert Worthen, is with Co. D, 103 Infantry, and soon to return to the states as instructor.

Ed. P. Kneeland of West Somerville, Mass., came Saturday evening to spend a two weeks' vacation with Mrs. Kneeland, at the home of her mother, Mrs. Emma Mann. It has been about ten years since Mr. Kneeland has been here to attend the fair and he expects to meet a large number of his friends at that time.

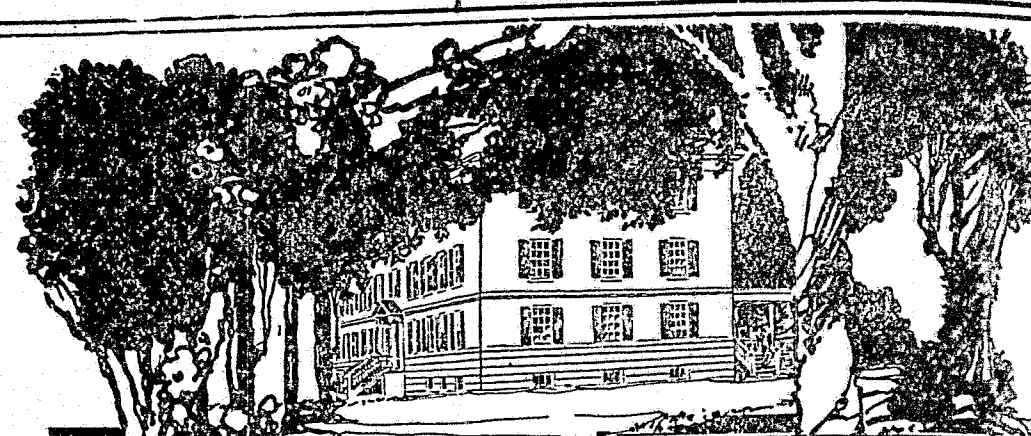

Mrs. John Wilson, wife of Lieut. John E. Wilson, recently received letters from Congressman Frederick Hale and Gov. Carl E. Milliken expressing their sympathy to her in her anxiety for her husband who had been reported injured in the casualty list.

EDUCATION OF WAR HORSES
A war horse, before he is ready for service, receives an education almost as rigorous and comprehensive as that of the recruit who rides him into battle. When properly trained he will face barbed wire and even ruin entanglements, regardless of lacerated legs and flanks. After he has been accustomed to have a man mount rapidly on his sensitive back he is taught to stand with his rider. He has to be taught to pull up in his own length from a gallop, to stand steady while a rider fires from his back, and to lie still on the ground while he is being used as a cover for his rider, who snipes over his side.

One of the most difficult things required of a war horse is to become familiarized with the sword. In warfare it is a common trick for a cavalryman to aim his first blow at his opponent's horse, for no horse will stand after being pricked on the nostril or lip.

When a horse knows his rider well he will perform surprising deeds. A brigade has been known to go through three rows of bayonets and then through a barbed wire entanglement. Not long ago a Canadian troop charged two lines of German machine guns and rifles, wheeled and then rode through them a second time. When the enemy finally began his big retreat, it is the Allied horses that will keep the Germans on the run.

Hebron Academy

HEBRON, MAINE

THE future holds countless opportunities for the wide-awake boys and far-sighted girls of today. How can your boy or girl meet the needs and responsibilities of that great time?

Hebron, through its proper environment, close contact with students from many parts of the country, courses of study and plan of play, is moulding body, mind and soul for the tasks of this golden future.

It is an ideal school for college preparation and also offers practical courses for those not preparing for college.

Buildings and dormitories are of the most beautiful type in New England. Its location in a hamlet having no resorts or distracting entertainments, affords conditions most ideal for study, yet homelike atmosphere is maintained.

Practical courses in Sewing, Home Economics, and Domestic Chemistry will be added soon for girls in the coming year. Wholesome rivalry in all sports.

Is Your Home Protected?

This matter of lightning rods should be a personal one with you.

Is your home protected?
If not, can you afford to take the chances of its destruction?

You may have been spared up to this time, but give it a moment's thought and see whether it has not been through your good fortune rather than through your good management.

You have no assurance that lightning will continue to spare you.

It has visited your neighbors. Your turn may come next. If it should visit your home, it means certain destruction of property. It may mean sudden death to you or to some member of your family.

You cannot shift the responsibility. It is a matter for you to decide. Face the issue squarely and ask yourself the question whether you are playing the part of the prudent man in neglecting to guard your home and dear ones from the lightning stroke which may come at any time.

You have the highest assurance that can be given the Dodd System of lightning rods does give protection.

It is a reasonable system. The demonstrations put its effectiveness beyond question.

The position that the insurance companies have taken in the matter should have great weight with you.

Their interests are to preserve property. They have no personal interests in Dodd & Struthers.

Your interests are the same. You want to preserve your property—and your life and the lives of your family.

The insurance companies are encouraging you to protect your property.

But they cannot force you to act. It is a question for you and a question of NOW.

After awhile may be too late. Will you answer the question to your own best interest?

Then if in doubt, telephone to A. W. Walker & Son for a demonstration, and estimate on your buildings.

Congressman White is now at Washington attending to the important legislation before Congress. Oxford County Fair, Next Week

Everything is being done to make the Oxford County fair a record breaker on Sept. 10, 11, 12. More entries have been received in the various departments than ever before.

The two acre lot from the Prudent Bedard estate adjoining the southerly side of the grounds has been added by running the fence near the buildings close to Brown street. The Bedard stable will be used as it stands but eventually it will be moved nearer the center of the fair grounds. This additional space will be used to park automobiles and relieve the congestion within the oval or along the fences.

Considerable work has been done on the track which will be appreciated by the large number of horsemen who will attend this year. The surface opposite the small stand near the cattle department for pulling matches has been greatly improved.

The hall exhibits promise to be the best ever. All space is taken and six granges will have a show well worth visiting. A good demonstration each day by experts, should interest everybody as it will be strictly along conservation lines.

No special trains can be secured, but reduced rates have been granted on the railroads for this occasion.

Three lively base ball games and band concerts as in former years will be offered by the association. No trouble or expense has been spared to uphold the good reputation of this big annual show.

A Matter of Accent.

"Speaking with a strong American accent," a navy man has returned as a deserter for service here after seven years across the Atlantic. Seven years! Why, seven weeks will do the trick. What is known as the "American accent"—and differs as widely as the American continent—is the most infectious in the world. A couple of months, as I know personally, is sufficient to alter the pitch of voice, and no man comes back from America without being detected in his speech, which has unconsciously caught the pitch. He gets over it in time. But Britain has never succeeded in imposing its lingual pitch on America.—London Chronicle.

WEST PARIS

Mrs. Anna C. Young.
Mrs. Anna C. Young passed away at the home of her son, Rev. C. H. Young, Sunday afternoon, Sept. 1, at Trap Corner. Mrs. Young has been in failing health for the past three or four years and decidedly so this summer.

She was the daughter of Stephen R. and Abigail Andrews Starbird and was born in Paris May 12, 1839, and has spent the greater part of her life in town. She married Nathaniel Young, a farmer, and lived at North Paris. He served in the Civil war and later they bought land and built a set of buildings here on Church street, now owned by Chester H. Lane. Mr. Young died about 20 years ago. She lived alone for some years and sometimes with her children away from here and a few years ago her son came here to live with her; who with his wife have tenderly and devotedly cared for her.

She early became a christian and united with the Methodist church, where she was a faithful attendant and worker as long as health permitted. She was one of the first members of the W. C. T. NORWAY AND VICINITY

Frank T. True

Frank T. True of Council Bluffs, Iowa, is one of the many Norway boys, who has made good. He did not have to go away from home to be appreciated. In 1880 when but 24, he was elected town treasurer and the next year was re-elected. He was then in the grocery business with his brother, Asa, at Steep Falls. In Oct. of 1887 he resigned his office and went West locating at Council Bluffs. He accepted a clerical position in the city government the following Monday after his arrival there, with which he has been connected since, never having lost a day's service in all these years. For over 15 years he has been city treasurer, having been elected every two years, the last time without opposition. In 1899 he married Anna J. Chamberlain of Ashland, Nebraska. No finer young man ever went from Norway.

Mr. True is a republican in politics and in religion a Universalist. He has a warm affection for Norway and is much interested in the new history being written by Judge Whitman that he contributes fifty dollars towards the publication.

Elias Saleeby of Portland spent the week end with his brother, Nassif Saleeby and family of Winter street. Mr. Saleeby resided in Norway for a year or so several years ago and was employed in the shoe factory.

DOING WAR WORK

The following letter has been received from Mrs. Alma P. Hayden of Niagara Falls.

Dear sir: Mrs. Alma Pondexter Hayden who was appointed teacher of special subjects in Norway High School, has asked to be released to take up certain phases of War work in connection with the Social Service League of Niagara Falls, N. Y. She is the General Secretary of the League and has charge of the office which is the headquarters of the Society.

She has a visiting nurse who cares for soldiers and their families free of charge. She is one of the hostesses at the Service House where the children always find a cordial welcome when they come in from Fort Niagara. Over the entrance is the electric sign Mother and within are pleasantly furnished rooms with writing material and smokes at the disposal of the boys. "Hello Mothers," is their salutation to the ladies who serve them coffee, sandwiches, lemonade and other eatables. There are always several hostesses present to talk with them and they do love to talk and tell you about their home and their mothers. I have talked with many of them and I think the war was won back in their boyhood days when their good mothers taught them about God, and Life, and their duty.

Whether churchmen or not, they are religious and acknowledge their faith to God.

Some days six or seven trains of soldiers are passing through or arriving at the Fort.

We meet all these trains and serve lunches to the boys who greatly appreciate the service.

We know when the western boys come they are so much more demonstrative.

Near the Service Office stands the Armory where entertainments and dances are held and where good music and the latest war songs bring cheer to the soldiers.

I began this as a formal notice but have continued in a personal letter.

I am one of the many who have given up their regular work for a time to do something for the soldiers and, as much as I would like to take up the teaching in Norway High School, I would feel I had missed a duty and a privilege if I refused the call which has come to me at this time when all personal preference must be put aside.

Big Government Snow Shoe Order

Walter F. Tubbs, manufacturer of the well known "Norway" shoe, has shipped this week 2,000 pairs of men's snow shoes for use in the British army. A standing order to run an indefinite period has also been awarded to this factory. The crew numbering twenty-five must be increased to sixty-five if the large orders are to be filled. Mr. Tubbs has leased the store house at the Norway Auto Co. garage and is fitting it up to operate in connection with his factory nearby.

This order was secured in close competition from the British War Mission in New York.

True C. Morrill has been offered a position with the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. with the American Expeditionary Forces in France. He has been selected as one among a limited number who will accompany Dr. Spaulding overseas for educational work. Superintendent Morrill received the offer from George W. Strayer, the greatest authority on education in the country, and instructed at the Columbia University Summer School for teachers. Mr. Morrill attended his courses this summer and passed with a high mark. It is possible that he will be granted a year's absence from the Norway-Waterford-Oxford District if the offer is accepted.

Judge and Mrs. C. F. Whitman and Victor M. Whitman and wife will go next week to Sunset Cottage on the lake for several weeks' stay. Bob is cutting wood on the Beals lot which is near the cottage, and later will have a crew to help him. He expects to have from one hundred to one hundred and fifty cords of wood cut before winter sets in.

Judge and Mrs. C. F. Whitman intend to spend the coldest part of the winter in Southern Florida. He has engaged a cottage in a quiet town on the coast, owned by a former Norway lady. From all accounts it is a delightful place and just the kind where one can recuperate his health and the Judge feels that he is very fortunate. He will devote the principal part of the time this fall to the completion of the Norway History. In the spring he plans to build an office near his residence on Crescent street.

Harold Harvey of Lynn, Mass., has been a recent guest of his aunt, Mrs. John Shepard at their summer home at Lake Umbagog, Me.

Mrs. Luke Morse, who underwent a serious surgical operation at the Central Maine General Hospital, last week is making good recovery.

Donald Bartlett, Edna Haynes of Methuen, Mass. and Mr. and Mrs. John Matthews of Hebron spent a few days at the Bartlett camp in Lovell recently.

Hazel Foster of Buckton, Mass., has been spending a week with her father, Selden C. Foster, at their home on Pikes Hill. Mrs. Clarence Cole and son of Bryant's Pond spent Thursday with them.

Mrs. E. G. Schwartz left camp Wednesday and has taken rooms at the Beals Tavern. She has been occupying the Tribou cottage at the lake during the summer. For the past two weeks she has been entertaining Mrs. Rosa Wrenn of Boston, who left Thursday for her home.

Mrs. Schwartz accompanied her to Portland, where she visited her husband, Capt. E. G. Schwartz, who is ill at the Marine hospital.

Mrs. H. O. Dame and children are spending two weeks at their former home at Dorchester, Mass.

Base Ball

Cutters 17; Stock Room 3

The stock room, after traveling the road with red fire and pomp, went down in defeat Saturday afternoon at the fair grounds. LaFrance's combination from the cutting room and a few reserves contributed by other rooms, fell heavily on the stock men and won with a score 17 to 3.

Hard hitting figured strongly in the mix-up, and many free passes to first aided the winners in their one sided deal. Every stock man wanted to pitch and as a result their opponents capered off with the bouquet in double time. Purinton, LaFrance, Boulter and Dunham who are first string Carlottes, slugged hard on the cutting team and produced results. The stockmen attacked the ball frequently but the hits were scattered excepting in the sixth inning when they bunched four and passed in their three runs.

Fans looking for action found the article in this contest, as both teams were handy in this line. Double steals were frequently pulled off and several major league thrillers held the crowd even though the affair was so one sided.

Ed Lever stood up as official during the nine innings that came through alive. The wide margin between the teams probably accounted for comparative quiet along the front.

Proof that Some Women do Avoid Operations

Mrs. Etta Dorion, of Ogdensburg, Wis., says:

"I suffered from female troubles which caused piercing pains like a knife through my back and side. I finally lost all my strength so I had to go to bed. The doctor advised an operation but I would not listen to it. I thought of what I had read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and tried it. The first bottle brought great relief and six bottles have entirely cured me. All women who have female trouble of any kind should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

How Mrs. Boyd Avoided an Operation.

Canton, Ohio.—"I suffered from a female trouble which caused me much suffering, and two doctors decided that I would have to go through an operation before I could get well."

"My mother, who had been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, advised me to try it before submitting to an operation. It relieved me from my troubles so I can do my house work without any difficulty. I advise any woman who is afflicted with female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial and it will do as much for them."—Mrs. MARIE BOYD, 1421 5th St., N. E., Canton, Ohio.

Thomas F. Harney Invented War Equipment

Thomas F. Harney of Framingham, Mass., has invented an important article for use in connection with the Browning automatic gun.

Mr. Harney and family are well known in Norway where they resided a number of years while he was cutting room foreman in the B. F. Spinner & Co. and Radwayville Shoe Co. factories. They have spent their vacations for several seasons since they returned to Massachusetts.

The following clipping from a Boston daily will explain the invention and circumstances leading to its conception.

"How a patriotic American mechanic moved to superhuman effort by the fact that his son languished a military prisoner in a German prison camp, worked day and night to design and finally evolved a complete ammunition outfit for the light Browning automatic gun with which the American forces at the front are now being equipped, was described by Thomas F. Harney, a cutter in Mr. Long's factory at Framingham. His son is Corporal Ralph Harney, the Framingham High School graduate, who was taken prisoner in one of the earliest battles waged against the Hun by the old Massachusetts cavalry troops."

Mr. Long was discussing the efficiency of American labor in the war and had declared that "next to the valor of the American soldier and sailor, the ingenuity of the American mechanic will be the greatest force in winning the war for world-wide democracy," when he told the story of the patriotic endeavor of Harney."

Quietly Observe Fiftieth Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred P. Chandler who are at Rod Pond, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary, Friday, Aug. 30. They had made no arrangements to invite in their friends but Mrs. Charles Roes, who has been working for them learned that Aug. 30 was their anniversary day so invited in a few friends to help them celebrate the event. Those present beside Mr. and Mrs. Chandler were Mrs. Charles Roes and daughter, William Thurston and family, Mrs. Luella Merrill and Guy Ingalls.

Mrs. Roes also attended to the refreshments for the guests and secured for cream and cake unbeknown to the bride and groom which added to the pleasantness of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Chandler was married fifty years ago at Milan, N. H.

The Sunday School will have a Sunset Picnic Saturday afternoon at four o'clock at Mrs. Mabel Carroll's, Paris street. All scholars and friends of the school expected to attend. The Noise Boys are to have a ball game on the Fair Grounds. A program of games and sports has been arranged for the children on the lawn. Basket lunch at six o'clock. Those who have earned their quarter during the summer will bring them Saturday afternoon.

Sunday School on Sunday at 2:30. Preaching service at 3:15. The pastor, Rev. G. H. Newton, will take for his subject, "God Mindful of His Children." A large attendance is hoped for.

The annual business meeting of the church will be held Friday evening, Sept. 13, at Dea-Fields, Alpine Street.

Gasless Sunday was observed by a majority of car owners and motor boats in town. From one point of observation forty automobiles passed between 9 A. M. and 9 P. M. Not over half a dozen drivers were known to reside in Norway, Paris or Oxford. On a Sunday with good weather, two hundred cars have been counted on the same road. It is doubtful if many long trips were made unless absolutely necessary.

Leon A. Curtis has recovered from his severe injury and has employment in the woods at Milletville. He was brought to Norway some five weeks ago after an injury from a fall on board ship in Boston where he had been working.

Irene LaFrance picked two freak vegetables worthy of mention. One is a potato shaped similar to a Bartlett pear and a good imitation. The other came from a mass of stringed beans, two pods making the letters U. S. They are a war garden product and the result is surely not pro-German.

Pure Blood

An impure condition of the blood cannot be overcome unless the bowels are made to move freely, once a day, at least. To build up the system, so permanent benefit will result, it is necessary to improve the digestion. We strongly recommend the true "L. F." Atwood Medicine, for its ingredients act upon the stomach, liver and bowels. It tones these organs to new activity so that they perform their functions naturally, and throw off all impure and unclean matter. Take a teaspoonful morning and night—your skin will clear, appetite return, strength and spirits revive;—you'll be glad you bought this genuine "L. F." remedy, price 50 cents, made by the L. F. Big Barn Door Musings, Personal Sketches, etc.

Read the Intelligence Column every week.

Let your wants be known in the Intelligence Column of this paper. Try it and see if you can't get what you want.

When a man is sixty he ceases to be of any particular interest to anyone. His existence is tolerated because it is the custom. Dr. A. S. Stearns is a son of a likely looking lad of maybe thirty who is delegated the responsible task of recognizing me when Ed. Little is absent.

A recent issue of the Advertiser shows the appraised value of an estate at $183,785.70 and the assessed town tax was $399.00. Can some one devise a tax on evidence of debt that will be fair and not be confiscation? The present tax-law is so unjust it is seldom used unless through spite or revenge.

Judge Towne of Franklin came over to see me the other day and set at the foot of wisdom and listened to the prattle of seven old age. He was the Barn Door. He was accompanied by his daughter a comely miss of maybe five and twenty and a graduate of Mt. Holyoke College. Of course I was glad to see them and when I went to supper I put on a coat which is out of the usual for me.

Economy has commenced in the Advertiser Office. One paper comes here where three formerly came. This is in compliance with Government requirements. We've got to get on with fifteen per cent less white paper than was used last year. September 15th is the set to commence. White paper is getting scarce and we maybe compelled to go by with eight pages instead of ten. "Economy Wins The War" and the war must be won!

On our way into the city the other day I invited a woman who had a pail in each hand to ride. She willingly accepted and I noticed the pail was filled with cucumbers, peas and beans and as complaint of garden thieves is common I asked her where she got them. She said it was on her farm and it developed in the talk that she was the owner of the Seam. Noble Farm on Cock Hill, fully three and one-half miles from Lakeport whither she was going.

She was the adopted daughter of Mr. Noble and heired the place. She often walks to the farm and returns home the same day bringing with her such vegetables as they might need.

I well remember the place and her adopted father. Seam Noble was an Up-town democratic politician of forty years ago very much like the late Frank P. Town of Norway—he was a perennial candidate for the office of selectman and always failed of an election. He was a good man and farmer and solid in his party affiliation but somehow couldn't poll the strength of his party.

I related an incident that I claimed occurred at her father's house forty-five years ago—a party calling there to warm a baby by their fire. My sister said it was not at that house but the next one to it. The lady remembered that a man with a little baby called on one cold day to get warm and the baby was nearly frozen. She was positive about it.

That baby was my sister's, who now holds a foreman position with the U. S. Cartridge Company at Lowell, Mass. This settled the controversy.

I was at the New Hampshire State College at Durham, Thursday the 22d and was greatly pleased with its appearance. The weather, though terribly hot, was just what is needed for ripening the crops. Government control would have been unable to have kept down the dust of the one hundred sixteen miles of road traveled.

A rough stone with bronze plate says: "Presented to the town of Barnstead by Ed. Barker 1796. Erected 1896."

I learned that the stranger with whom I talked was Calvin Jenkins, who used to live on Beatty Hill and was sheriff of Belknap County for some years and a brother of Lew Jenkins, who I knew when I lived in this county thirty-six years ago.

Mr. Jenkins said that Lawyer Ed. Shannon of Laconia gave him business enough so that his service fees amounted to more than $800.00 in one year. That was in the old suing days.

CHANGE OF NAMES

It is rumored on good authority that the U. S. Railroad Administrators will change the names of several stations on the Grand Trunk in their next time table. Yarmouth Jct. will be Stockton, North Yarmouth changed to Dunsville, West Paris to Bates, West Bethel will be named Allensville and Stratford Hollow to Mapleton. Tickets will be printed accordingly. It is surmised this is to avoid confusion in transmitting train orders as that is done by telephone. At present the names cause confusion which might prove costly to life and property.
